A Fall stitching retreat on Cape Cod

TEACHERS & CLASSES

Original antique class is based on

Cross Stitch

Antiques

Kathleen Littleton, J.D., M.T.S., is first and foremost, a wife and mother of fourteen children. She has a Masters in Theological Studies, and her Juris Doctorate Degree in Law. She gave up her career as an attorney to become a stay-at-home mother when her first child was born. After a lifetime of enjoying researching, purchasing, stitching and designing antique reproduction needlework, in 2005 Cross Stitch Antiques was founded. Her work has traveled to museums and art galleries throughout the United States.

Seashell Sampler - Jane Price 1819 - reproduction by Kathleen Littleton -

We are honored to have Kathleen join us this fall for our Cape Cod stitching retreat. This unpublished reproduction sampler is simply stunning! The original, an early 19th century linen and silk work sampler includes an upper section floral band done in a long stitch, center verse, a lower section with an expanse of greenery and cluster of shells, the entire piece is surrounded by a narrow geometric border.

Original piece measures 13 1/4" x 17 3/4"

Cranberry Gathering Necessaire by Barbara Jackson -

Who says everything needs to be supersized? This petite necessaire will hold all your stitching basics so you can pop it in a basket and off you go. There is room on the inside for a small pair of scissors, rings for extra silk and an area for your needles. Decorated with cranberry motifs so beloved by the New England stitcher, this little purse is created on 36 cream linen with silk threads. The cream edging is formed with double backstitching which creates a decorative but simple fold line. Closing the purse is a cinch: simply wind the long cords around the middle! The necessaire is a little over 3" across and 6" opened with fold up pocket in place. A simple but useful object your foremothers would have loved!

Olde Colonial Designs

Miniature Blanket Sampler Box by Pam Reed -

This piece was inspired by a sampler found in a blanket chest in the attic of a dear friend. The original sampler was stitched by E. Thomas at the age of 9. My adaptation of this sampler encompasses a series of motifs, borders and specialty stitches pulled from the original, as well as the added verse "stitched by me with golden needles". We will personalize this miniature of the sampler by using the alphabet in threads to match the sawtooth satin stitch border. Piece will be worked on 36ct linen over 1 and 2 threads. The completed miniature sampler measures approximately 6 1/2" wide and rolls to fit inside the miniature blanket chest included with your kit.

Class price $165 - you must register for the retreat in order to take this class
